Road digging leaves drivers accident-prone

- Optical Fibre Cable laying work makes clean city roads treacherous to commute
- Yadavagiri Corporator holds Mayor, Commissioner responsible to restore damaged roads

Roads at Saraswathipuram and Yadavagiri (right) dug up to lay Optical Fibre Cables where the digging agency has not bothered to re-lay the stretches.

Mysuru, Dec. 4 (RK&BCT)- The Optical Fibre Cables (OFC) laying work across the city has left the roads in a bad shape with mounds of soil, sand and stones by the side, waiting for two-wheelers to trip and fall or four-wheelers to collide with an oncoming vehicle trying to avoid the dangerous mess.

Agencies attached to Reliance Jio Infocomm Ltd (RJIL), a private telecom company, are using Horizontal Directional Drilling Method to lay cables where one to two foot square pits are dug. In all, 174.63 kilometres are being dug within the city limits to lay the cables. The company has paid over Rs. 17 crore to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) as digging fees.

MCC conditions

As per the work order issued by the MCC, after digging, the roads must be re-laid and brought back to its original shape using jelly stones and asphalt.

Also, any damage caused to the water or underground drainage pipes while laying the underground cables must be compensated by the digging agency itself.

The MCC has mentioned that the cable laying company is liable to pay Rs. 688 per metre with an additional cost of Rs. 200 if the roads are not brought back to the original shape and if there is a loss of public property.

Conditions violated

Despite such stringent conditions, the agencies are leaving mounds of stones and soil beside the roads.

The newly-laid Yadavagiri Road is a classic example where pits are dug from the Vontikoppal Circle up to Ideal Jawa Road. These pits have been closed in a haphazard manner.

This manner in which the roads are closed is dangerous when vehicles zip past, especially during peak hours when people are in a hurry to reach their destinations.

Advertise and allure

Awareness-driven awakening and advertisement-driven allurement by various Departments of Government and manufacturing sector players offering a wide variety of consumer goods respectively bring home response from the target sections among the land's masses in diverse extent and nature. Mysuru's Urban Local Body and the city's residents, estimated numerically at more than 1.3 million together testify the inverse relation between the effort on the part of the former to create awareness about pro-actively keeping the city's space free from garbage and the response from the residents, reportedly accounting for one-fourth of the total headcount living in the city's slums, apart from a considerable number of residents whose agenda is to indulge in discarding garbage disdainfully in their neighbourhood, roadsides and open spaces, ready to pick up a wordy duel using abusive words when asked to give up their habit. The marketing arms of consumer goods manufacturing industry seem to be leaving no stone unturned while beaming novel allurements, starting from the buy-one-take-two-free slogan to offering attractive gifts with the catch of running up a bill in four figures. Hardly any section of society resists the allurements, not the least some well-marked sections with their pockets jingling.

Unlike the era of reaching the would-be patrons of their products by industry players mainly through dailies, we are in an era of aggressive marketing with the ubiquitous idiot box not sparing anybody who is awake. Glamorously produced handouts, quite often inserted in the pages of dailies as in Mysuru, is the order of the day. Frequently organised exhibition-cum-sale attracts customers in swarms, tempted by irresistible discounts.

Thanks to digital technology's rapid strides, internet lays bare a whole world of goods and foods that can be ordered while seated in the cool comfort of one's drawing room. Barring an elephant, one can order any good, often driven by the power of impulse buying, delivered at one's doorstep, the icing on the cake as it were being cashless transactions, thanks to e-payment system, with the banks obliging. Looking with eyes virtually popping out for offerings of attractive deals in the e-marketing world has almost become an addiction cutting across age-groups and gender. The conventional brick 'n' mortar trading system seems to be on its way out in foreseeable future.

Research by groups keeping a close watch on the goings on in the business world has revealed that high-income consumers in their fifties are always the best bet for luxury brands. The common view that economic muscle and affordability determine the propensity to buy goods on the internet has been proved as myth. That is allurement driven by advertisement for you.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

I am fascinated by the growth of the 'diet industry' in India. Two decades ago when someone said "I am on a diet", that was it. You assumed that they would be eating less of everything, especially sugar and fats. But today those few words lead to a whole discourse: "I am trying the keto diet this year. I had tried the vegan diet earlier. And last year it was the Atkins." If by chance there is someone else in the room who is on a different diet, you are in for some fun kibitzing. How many diets are there? Here is a shortlist of diets that you can find on Google: ketogenic diet, paleo diet, whole30 diet, vegan diet, MIND, low foomap diet, weight-watchers diet, Atkins diet, gluten-free diet, felxitarian diet (the last one is where the person switches from vegetarian to vegan to non-vegetarian diets; hence 'flexi'). — Ambi Parameswaran in Business Standard

Farmer paints dog like tiger to scare monkeys in farm

Shivamogga: Desperate to save his crops grown in his farm from a gang of invading monkeys, a farmer at Shivamogga in Karnataka, painted his dog to look like a tiger to scare the monkeys away.

Srikantegowda, a farmer, recently made international news headlines after it was reported that he used hair dye to paint his watchdog in the characteristic stripes of a tiger. The pooch already had a reddish hair color, so all he had to do was add the black stripes and some white to give it the tiger look. Hhe hoped the disguise would help the dog drive away the monkeys ravaging his crops.

Gowda not only used hair dye to make his watchdog look like a small tiger, but he also placed large posters of real tigers and his own fake tiger all over his farmland, hoping that they would keep the monkeys at bay. Srikantegowda's ruse was so successful that it has inspired other farmers to follow suit.

Really...?

- Why does shaking soda make it lose its carbonation? Soft drinks taste flat and lose their carbonation when shaken because the process of shaking allows the dissolved gas to escape from the liquid by forming bubbles. Carbonated drinks contain carbon dioxide which is dissolved in liquid under high pressure. When a can of soda is shaken or soda is poured out vigorously, carbon dioxide molecules trapped in the liquid overcome the surface tension of the liquid and escape.

Three Sandalwood trees stolen from Forest Department Office

Officials red-faced as trees axed under their very nose

Mysuru, Dec.4 (KS)- The Forest Department, tasked to protect forest resources, is in an embarrassing situation, as thieves axed and made away with three sandalwood trees at Aranya Bhavan in Ashokapuram here right under the noses of Forest staff.

The thieves, who entered the tightly guarded Aranya Bhavan, have chopped off three fully grown sandalwood trees and have made away with the trunks.

According to the complaint lodged by Deputy Range Forest Officer (DRFO) Sanjiv K. Patil at Ashokapuram Police Station, the theft took place at about 4 am on Monday (Nov.2) and the thieves have chopped the three trees grown close to the Forest Guest House.

The thieves to avoid being noticed by the guards, may have reportedly entered the premises through the area around the residences of Forest officials at midnight as the main entrance and other gates of Aranya Bhavan is tightly guarded.

Ashokapuram Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Meanwhile, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. K.C. Prashanth Kumar, speaking to Star of Mysore, said: "We have taken the incident seriously. # Remove legal protection
given to Govt. servants for acts done sans "good intentions"

Sir,

What's wrong with India ? A "Gang rape and Murder" can happen like any other crime! I am referring to the gang rape and murder of 26-year-old veterinary doctor in Hyderabad. Look at our Law, who is to be held accountable? The Accused, The Executive, the Legislative or the Judiciary?

The Law states, "Any act done by a Government servant is deemed to be done with good intentions." Unless this privilege is removed by the Legislative, it is unlikely that these types of heinous crimes can be controlled. Even in this incident, look at the way the suspended cops have behaved with the family members of the Veterinarian.

Isn't the Legislative, the Judiciary and the Executive aware about the dangers working women face when they have to travel alone without any choice? Why, in our country, the system starts deliberating only after such gruesome incidents take place? Why not before? As kids, we were taught "Prevention is better than cure." Can't our Legislative, Executive and Judiciary comprehend such dangers and change the laws to put in place safety measures?

When most of the leaders we have in the Assembly and the Parliament are not taught or have not studied Moral Sciences like you and me, but have acquired decision-making political powers on the basis of "Money and Muscle Power," do we have any choice other than to suffer under this system?

It's time we changed our laws to make "Qualification" mandatory to contest all elections in our country. Also to hold any negligent act of Government servants as a serious crime. Further, make all criminal proceedings in Courts transparent by telecasting them live. And most importantly, all criminal cases, specially "rape and murder", must be decided within a time frame of three months, while in the Appellate Courts it should be decided in one month. Finally, the accused if found guilty should be hung in public which should be telecast "Live".

May God give strength to the Veterinarian's family to bear this inhuman tragedy and the loss.

— S. Arun Kumar, Advocate,
Pragabhi Law Associates

NOTE: The suggestion by this correspondent to have a time-frame of three months within which a case of 'rape and murder' should be decided reminds me of how British in India decided cases of assassination of Britishers by the Indian revolutionaries. One, for example, is the speed with which the killers of Nashik District Collector Arthur Mason Jackson were executed by hanging.

He was killed on 21 December 1909. By the first week of January 1910 all of them (accused) had made their statement in front of Mr. Palsikar, a First-Class Magistrate.

The judgement in the case was delivered on 29 March 1910 by the Chief Justice of Bombay sentencing the accused to death by hanging. On 19 April 1910 the accused, Kanhere, Karve and Deshpande, were sent to the gallows at 7 am at Thane Jail. In just four months, the murder case was over.

It is said that the speed with which these serious crimes were dealt with and decided, actually deterred the Indian revolutionaries from gaining upper hand while the freedom struggle was pursued by the radicals and moderates eschewing political killings.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells about the reasons for pancreas swelling, sudden drooling & coughing in dogs

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

My puppy was diagnosed with a swollen pancreas, is it normal? What could be the causes?

Pancreas swelling in puppies often occurs when the puppy over eats, or may sometimes occur due to some trauma. Common causes are:

• A high-fat diet — This is a major cause of pancreatitis, especially for a dog who gets one large helping of fatty food in one sitting; • A history of dietary indiscretion (a medical term for saying your dog will basically eat anything); • Obesity; • Hypothyroidism (or other endocrine diseases); • Severe blunt trauma; • Diabetes mellitus.

• Certain medications, or other toxins — These include cholinesterase inhibitors, calcium, potassium bromide, estrogen, phenobarbital, l-asparaginase, salicylates, azathioprine, thiazide diuretics, and vinca alkaloids; • There may, in some cases, be a genetic predisposition.

The treatment of pancreatitis depends on the severity of the disease and may include:

• Hospitalisation at the veterinary clinic and, in more severe cases, 24 hour intensive care and monitoring; • Intravenous fluids; • Pain medicine; • Anti-vomiting medication (antiemetics); • Antibiotics, if a secondary bacterial infection is suspected; • Nutritional support; • Other medications, depending on your dog's symptoms.

Is it normal for my dog to cough and what can be the reason?

A dog may be coughing because of:

Kennel cough. Kennel cough is the common name for a deep, honking, canine cough. Chances are, he was around another sick dog. Kennel cough is highly contagious, but it's not a serious problem on its own. As long as your dog is eating well and acting like himself, he'll probably feel better in a week or so. Your vet should make sure that he doesn't need antibiotics, or cough suppressants.

Fungal infections. Yeast and other fungi can be picked up in dirt or through the air. There are prescription medications that can help.

Heartworms Mosquitoes spread this disease. Monthly medication, or an injection that lasts 6 months, can prevent it. Treatment is hard on your pet, and expensive.

Distemper. This virus spreads through the air. It's serious but can be prevented with a vaccine.

Heart Disease, Leaky valves and other problems, can weaken and thicken the heart muscle. This puts pressure on the lungs and airways. Medication, along with the right diet and exercise, can bring relief.

Congestive heart failure. Fluid in the lungs can cause coughing.

Lung problems. Sometimes dogs get bronchitis or pneumonia. They also may suck in dirt, grass seeds, or food, which can lead to an infection of the airways. Antibiotics can help. In rare cases, lung cancer is the diagnosis. Your vet will help you decide if medication or surgery is the best course.

The outer ear of my dog has enlarged. What should I do?

This can be due to Aural Haematoma. "Aural" simply means ear, while "haematoma" means "blood has accumulated inside the ear." If you look carefully at your dog's ears, you will likely see that the actual swollen part is the underlying surface of the pinna. Upon palpation, most dogs will display a pain signal. When a dog subjects its ear lobe to excessive scratching and shaking, tiny blood vessels rupture, causing the accumulated blood to fill up the space in the ear flap between the cartilage and skin. The ear flap, therefore, swells under pressure, causing the typical "ballooned experience" many owners may witness.

An aural hematoma must not need confused with an ear abscess. The basic way to differentiate the two is by seeing the vet and having the vet do a needle aspiration.

In an aural hematoma, the needle will aspirate a bloody fluid, in an abscess the aspirated substance will be of a yellowish, green tint, suggesting pus.

The following are symptoms of an aural hematoma in dogs: • A swollen pinna (ear flap); • Pain upon palpation; • Head held to one side; • Pawing at the ear; • A history of head shaking; • A history of ear scratching.

Underlying causes of ear scratching in dogs may be various, but here are a few to be looked into:

• Ear mites; • Bacterial infection; • Yeast infection; • Foreign bodies; • Allergies; • Wax built up.

Treatment of the hematoma would consist of a surgical procedure, where the blood is drained out. Often, this is done with the dog conscious, using a cannula, or needle and syringe. In a more invasive procedure, the pinna will be cut open allowing the fluid to drain out, and then the area would be sutured back. The dog is often prescribed, antibiotics to treat/prevent infections, and steroids to prevent any further swelling.

My dog is constantly salivating. What can be the reason?

In the summertime, sudden drooling may be a sign of heatstroke. If temperatures are high, and your dog is panting and appears fatigued, get her into the shade, or air conditioning, immediately, as well as offer her a cool drink of water.

While some non-droolers will salivate more when nervous — like when they're at the vet — excess drool, in general, isn't indicative of a health problem, unless it's unusual for your dog.

It could be a sign of a neurological condition, in which the nerves in the face don't work, or a blockage in the oesophagus caused by something like a bone.

Another possible cause: Mouth irritation. If your pup got into something unsafe, such as chewing an electrical wire, or a poisonous plant, her mouth could be irritated from electrical or chemical burns. Contact your vet if the drooling persists, or if she repeatedly paws at her mouth.

Why is my rabbit not eating?

Rabbits don't eat when they're feeling sick. This can be very dangerous for them — even worse if they stop eating and drinking!

One of the most common reasons a bunny will stop eating is an intestinal blockage; he may have some hair obstructing his digestive path (GI stasis) which can result in trouble passing whatever food he has already eaten.

Please do give your vet a call. A rabbit, who won't eat or drink, can die quickly,

The vet can palpate his stomach to feel for a blockage, administer hydration and Reglan (a faeces mover) if necessary. In the meantime, try to feed your rabbit things that he loves.

International Day of Persons with Disabilities (IDPD) was celebrated yesterday and the theme for this year was 'Promoting the participation of persons with disabilities and their leadership: Taking action on the 2030 Development Agenda.' To mark the occasion, here is a feature on Government Teachers Training Centre for Hearing Impaired and Mysuru District Disability Rehabilitation Centre located at Tilaknagar. While one institute presents a heart-warming picture as it is selflessly serving the society, the other paints a sorry state of affairs with utter neglect from the Government.

Providing expertise to train impaired children

State's first Teachers Training Centre produces teachers to train visually and hearing impaired children

Mysuru, Dec. 4 (RKB&BCT)- A special school to train teachers who in-turn can train visually impaired students is doing yeoman service to the society. State's first Government Teachers Training Centre for Hearing Impaired (primary level) is a boon for visually challenged and hearing impaired children.

The school, located on Pulakeshi Road in Tilaknagar, has been providing training since the last 19 years and till now, it has empowered over 889 teachers to effectively teach children with disabilities and they are serving in various Government Schools for the Blind and Hearing Impaired and also serving voluntary organisations.

They have the necessary expertise in teaching disabled children, thanks to the institute. Training is provided on behalf of Department for Empowerment of Differently-Abled and Senior Citizens and training is provided in two areas — D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Visually Impaired) and D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Hearing Impaired). As the name indicate, D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Visually Impaired) trains teachers in training children with visual disabilities and D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Hearing Impaired) trains teachers so that they can train children with hearing impairment. The duration of training is two years and those candidates who have passed their PUC can enrol themselves to the course.

Equal opportunities for all

The institute started functioning in the year 2000 with an aim of human resource development and to provide equal opportunities for all. The training centre is being funded and run from the Special Education Section of the State's Education Department. The training institute and the training per se including the course material, syllabus and activities are recognised by Rehabilitation Council of India (RCI). It is the apex Government body, set up under an Act of Parliament, to regulate training programmes and courses targeted at disabled, disadvantaged and special education requirement communities.

Well-equipped library & labs

The institute has experienced teachers, a well-equipped library and laboratories, computer laboratories and hostel facilities in collaboration with other Government and non-Government agencies. "These teachers, after trained by our institute work under Department for Empowerment of Differently-Abled and Senior Citizens, Sarva Shikshana Abhiyan and as resource teachers at all institutions for the disabled. They are eligible for Teachers' Eligibility Test conducted by the Education Department and all other teachers' recruitment examinations including Central Board of Secondary Education," said Manjula Patil, in-charge Deputy Director of Government Teachers Training Centre for Hearing Impaired.

There are 60 candidates who are undergoing their training in both the years of D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Visually Impaired) and D.Ed. Spl.Ed. (Hearing Impaired). There are seven teachers who are training the teachers and regular classes are being held between 10 am and 5 pm. Examinations are conducted by Rehabilitation Council of India and certificates are issued.

Candidates interested in undergoing training for special children can contact Ph: 0821-2491600.

State turns blind eye towards District Disability Rehabilitation Centre

*Pic 1: The damaged road right in front of District Disability Rehabilitation Centre (DDRC) in Tilaknagar. Pic 2: A rusting tempo traveller on the campus. Pic 3: Artificial limbs being prepared at DDRC.

Mysuru, Dec. 4 (PM&BCT)- The District Disability Rehabilitation Centre (DDRC) that provides comprehensive rehabilitation services to persons with disability at grassroots level is crying for attention with the State Government turning a blind eye to the plight of the institution. It is bogged down with several problems with fund crunch being the main one.

The Centre is located on the campus of Government Deaf and Dumb School in Tilaknagar on Pulakeshi Road and a visitor to the institute realises the mess if he/she goes around the building. The building looks in a dilapidated state with broken windows, rusted iron gate and weed-dominated campus with a rusting tempo traveller being an eyesore.

The District Disability Rehabilitation Centre has 13,131 registered members and has conducted 11,395 follow-up cases. It provides rehabilitation including education, employment, vocational training, reservation, research, manpower development and creation of barrier-free environment among others. Despite good intention behind establishment of the institute, it has suffered utter neglect without funds released by the Government.

Sources told Star of Mysore that earlier, the institute functioned under Central Government and as such, funds allocation was smooth. Now it comes under State Government and money is hard to come by.

The Centre has conducted around 2,450 camps (awareness, assessment and distribution programmes) in rural and urban areas of Mysuru and undertaken 2,521 counselling sessions regarding educational facilities and services available for special kids.

The Centre provides critical therapeutic services like physiotherapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, auditory training, counselling etc. provides referral and arrangement of surgical correction through Government and charitable Institutes and counsels persons with disabilities, their parents and family members. Despite all this, the Rehabilitation Centre is facing utter neglect and needs urgent attention.

UoM to start 'Department of Disability and Rehabilitation Studies' next year

Mysuru, Dec.4 (RK&DM)- The University of Mysore (UoM) Academic Council, which met at Crawford Hall here this morning, approved the setting up of a new Post-Graduate Department of Disability and Rehabilitation Studies from next academic year.

The Council, after thoroughly discussing the proposal submitted by a Committee of Deans, which favoured the establishment of the Department, gave nod for setting up the new Department.

Earlier, the Committee of Deans had opined that the course in Disability and Rehabilitation Studies be studied with the involvement of Post-Graduate Departments of Psychology, Food Science & Nutrition, Physical Education, MSW (Master of Social Work) and University Health Centre. The Committee had also resolved that the new Department can come under the Director of Physical Education (DPE) and the course in Disability and Rehabilitation Studies be started under the Department of Studies in Physical Education and Sports Sciences.

M.Sc in Sugar Technology at Mandya

The Council also approved introduction of M.Sc course in Sugar Technology at the University's PG Centre in Mandya.

Apart from this, the meeting decided to set up a Committee to study the Hassan PG Centre's proposal for starting M.Sc in Electronics and Mandya PG Centre's proposal for M.Sc Polymer Science course.

In other major decisions, the Council, in a big relief to failed and discontinued students, agreed to grant permission for them to reappear for the exams in double the duration of the course period, approval for revision of Regulation, Syllabus content and Scheme of exam in respect of the UoM's M.Com course with specialisation in Business Information Systems and extension of one year M.Ed (Special Education) course to two years, among others.

Earlier, the Council welcomed the newly-appointed members: Prof. T. Venkatesh Kumar, Prof. N.M. Talwar and R. Mugeshappa, Joint Director of Collegiate Education, to the Council.

Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar presided. Registrar Prof. R. Shivappa, Registrar (Evaluation) Prof. Maheshan and other Council members were present.

Road digging leaves drivers accident-prone

Corporator demands road restoration

Reacting on the mess caused by cable digging, Yadavagiri Corporator Guru Vinayak said that it is the responsibility of MCC Commissioner and the Mayor to ensure that the roads are brought back into its original shape.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Guru Vinayak said that permission to the telecom company was accorded at a Council meeting on 28.8.2019. "There is a strict instruction that a senior officer from the telecom company must supervise the works and must ensure that any road that is dug must be restored to its original shape. Despite this, the digging agencies are not following the conditions. They have made a mess of a newly-laid Yadavagiri Road that was beautified with interlocking tiles only two weeks back," he said.

Commissioner, Mayor responsible

"Seeing the mess, I asked for the MCC road digging permission copy from the agencies but till now, no engineer or official has produced the same. It is the responsibility of MCC Commissioner and Mayor to bring back the road to its original shape. Let them release funds and get the roads restored," he said and added that he will take up the matter with the MCC top brass.

Meanwhile, the road digging agencies have started filling the pits with asphalt and jelly stones at Ramakrishnanagar and a few other roads.

"The agencies must ensure that roads are re-laid soon after the cables are laid. "Leaving the roads with soil mounds on the sides is an invitation to accidents. The agencies must ensure quick works for public safety," said Ramakrishna, a resident of Yadavagiri.

Pictures show the pits being filled with asphalt and jelly stones at Ramakrishnanagar this morning.

Meanwhile in Bengaluru...

BBMP to pay compensation to victims of bad roads, potholes

Bengaluru, Dec. 4 (BCT)- Following directives from the Karnataka High Court, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has released advertisements (Public Notice) about paying compensation to victims of bad roads and potholes.

The advertisement, carrying the signature of BBMP Commissioner, read: "Consequent to the orders passed in WP: 42927/2015 (PIL) by the Hon'ble High Court of Karnataka, it is informed to the public in general that, citizens using Roads and Footpaths were to suffer loss or damage due to poor condition of the roads and footpaths, a reasonable compensation would be awarded after BBMP considers such representation filed by the citizens with necessary documents subject to the final order to be passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in SLP (C) 026709/2019."

The High Court had cautioned the civic body that it would have to initiate contempt of court proceedings against the Mayor and others for failing to follow its directives.

The HC had earlier directed BBMP to initiate action to pay compensation to those who suffer in accidents caused by bad roads and potholes. As a first step, BBMP was to issue advertisements in this regard. But for the last three months, since the order, no action was taken. After the court's warning on Wednesday last (27.11.2019), the BBMP rushed to release advertisements in newspapers last Thursday (28.11.2019).

With public campaigning having ended yesterday, all the candidates contesting the polls are taking out a brisk door-to-door campaigning today in order to reach out to the voters at the last minute.

Meanwhile, with just a day to go for the crucial by-polls, the ruling BJP and the Opposition Congress and JD(S) are making their own calculations on the number of seats that they would win.

While the BJP hopes to win a majority of the seats and boost its number in the Assembly, the Congress and JD(S) are hoping to turn the tables on the BJP by winning more seats.

Poll Officers return Rs.2 crore seized cash to MCDCC Bank

Mysuru, Dec.4 (OSR)- The Mysuru Election Officers have returned Rs.2 crore cash that was seized on Nov.28 at Manuganahalli Check-Post between Yelwal and Bilikere.

Duty-bound Election Officers had intercepted a Bolero at the Check-Post on the way to Hunsur that is going to polls on Dec.5. On inspection, the officials found two huge bags. When they opened the bags, they found wads of currency notes stuffed inside the bags. Persons carrying the cash had claimed that they were attached to Mysuru-Chamarajanagar District Central Cooperative Bank (MCDCC) and they were transporting the cash to Periyapatna branch of the Bank.

Since they failed to provide necessary documents to support the cash transfer and as the vehicle did not have any security personnel, the cash was seized by Election Officers as it was suspected that the cash was being transported to be distributed to the Hunsur voters.

After the cash was seized, officials from MCDCC Bank provided the documents to support the cash transfer. As such, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner, who is also the District Election Officer, ordered the release of seized cash to MCDCC Bank.

It may be mentioned here that MCDCC Bank President G.D. Harish Gowda had recommended the suspension of Chetan Babu, Senior Assistant of MCDCC Bank, who was transporting the cash without valid documents and security.

Young woman with ovarian tumour operated at Columbia Asia Hospital

Mysuru, Dec.4 (KS)-A 24-year-old married woman, who was diagnosed with borderline ovarian tumour by ultrasound at an infertility clinic in Bengaluru prior to her marriage, had undergone a tumour removal surgery. A year later, she went to a fertility specialist as she was anxious to conceive.

In view of her previous biopsy report, she was advised to undergo surgery which required the removal of uterus and ovary. Patient and her family were distressed and consulted her gynaecologist in Mysuru who referred them to Dr. Nivedita Shetty, who heads the Reproductive Department at Columbia Asia Hospital here. Dr.Nivedita then counselled them and suggested the option of undergoing a surgery which would preserve her child bearing capacity. The fertility surgery was planned by Dr. Roopesh, Consultant Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Columbia Asia Hospital.

"The entire tumour was removed retaining a small part of the ovary. Two months later she underwent an IVF. Four eggs were collected and four embryos were obtained. Two embryos were transferred and two were frozen, resulting in a successful single term pregnancy. The patient is now eight months pregnant. The challenge with fertility preserving surgery is the removal and elimination of cancer cells and protects and preserves healthy ovarian tissues," Dr. Nivedita Shetty.

Awareness and advances in cancer diagnosis have led to detection of cancer in early stages and has helped improve the long-term survival rates in some cases.

The main concern in adolescent and young women is that their child bearing capacity can be seriously affected either due to the disease or due to the treatment of the disease like surgery, chemotherapy or radiotherapy. It is of paramount importance in such cases to consider treatment approaches that include both cancer treatment and fertility preservation.

WORD OF THE DAY

Bon vivant

Pronunciation: bahn-vee-VAHNT.
Meaning: A sociable person who has cultivated and refined tastes especially with respect to food and drink.

Origin: Fans of fine French wine and cuisine won't be surprised to hear that the French language gave us a number of words for those who enjoy good living and good eating. Gourmet, gourmand, and gastronome come from French, as does bon vivant. In the late 17th century, English-speakers borrowed this French phrase, which literally means "good liver." No, we don't mean liver, as in the organ. We mean liver, as in "one who lives (in a specified way)"—in this case, "one who lives well."
Example: The Swiss-born chef and bon vivant saw life through rose-colored beer glasses, preferring to keep negativity at bay by drinking, eating, laughing, loving and yodeling. — Mike Hale.

THE ODD WORD

Babeldom

A confused sound of voices.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Blot on the landscape

Meaning: Something that spoils the view or ruins a previously comfortable situation.

Origin: T. E. (Thomas Edward) Lawrence, in 'Letters' (edited D. Garnett), 1938: "His two Kufti people - will be rather a blot on the landscape."
Tom Sharpe published a novel - 'Blott on the Landscape' in 1975. The book was adapted into a 6-part television series of the same name for BBC television in 1985. The story revolves around the proposed construction of a motorway—M101 in the book and the M399 in the BBC series—through Cleene Gorge in rural South Worfordshire—a fictional gorge in a fictional English county. At one end of Cleene Gorge is Handyman Hall; the home of the politician Sir Giles Lynchwood and his wife Lady Maud Lynchwood. Sir Giles is secretly in favour of ensuring that the motorway passes through the Cleene Gorge (and is actually the originator of the plan) as it will mean he will be paid the compensation for the destruction of Handyman Hall, which is under a covenant preventing its sale. While superficially pretending to be supportive he takes steps to undermine the inquiry and prevent alternatives being adopted, to ensure the new road travels through the Gorge. By contrast, Lady Maud's family has lived in the gorge for over 500 years, and she is fiercely defensive of her heritage and expects Giles to support her.
